

GIRL IS FOUND DYING ON LONELY ROAD AFTER BATTLE WITH ASSAILANT

She Fights Desperately Near
Trenton, N. J., Till Man
Is Frightened Away.

(Special to The Evening World.)
TRENTON, N. J., March 14.—A thirteen-year-old girl, daughter of a prosperous Trenton Junction farmer, was found dying early this morning on a lonely road about a quarter of a mile from her home, on the outskirts of this city.

She was left to die after an attack upon her by a man whom the police believe to be one of the striking section hands of the Pennsylvania Railroad. A railroad telegrapher heard the unconscious girl groaning while he was sitting at his key in a tower office.

Her body was badly bruised, parts of the flesh being torn away. When brought to her home she was revived for a few minutes, and told a story of a terrible struggle. She was returning home after having made arrangements to be confirmed, next Sunday, with a class in a Catholic church here. A man sprang from behind a tree and attacked her. The terrible struggle ensued, the girl fighting desperately.

Three of her fingers were broken in the fight. She did not collapse until the sound of wagon wheels made her assailant flee.

This is similar to the case of Miss Lucille B. Marshall, a well known Trenton girl, who was brutally assaulted on a lonely road, last December, and later died from her injuries.

KILKENNY, BATTLING GOAT, TO BE IN PARADE MAR. 17.

Buffalo Slayer May Start Something in St. Patrick's Pageant, but They'll Take a Chance.

Kilkenny, the buffalo slayer, the one-horned, militant, will lead the marchers under the banner of the Sons of Kildare in the St. Patrick's Day parade. That is, if they can lead Kilkenny; if not things are likely to happen in Kilkenny's vicinity, for of all the battling capriciousness—or capriciousness—this here Kilkenny is the armor-plated, steel-rimmed, double-turreted flagship.

When a delegation from the Sons of Kildare showed up at the Central Park Zoo yesterday and began to beg Frank Hovey, custodian of the deer paddock, to lend them Kilkenny, the fighting goat, to lead class to their section of the parade, Frank shook his head dubiously.

"Kilkenny is no sort of critter to have in a parade," quoth he. "If you want to give a bunch of imitations of a bunch of victims fleeing before the key del fuga, by all means have Kilkenny with you, but otherwise not so."

But the men from Kildare, persuasive and insistent, finally broke down Hovey's better judgment and Kilkenny was to be shocked and equipped with safety devices in the nature of stout manila ropes and be escorted in triumph by the hardest of the bunch.

ATTACK ON ADRIANOPE BY BULGARIANS FAILS.

Constantinople Report Says Troops Were Driven Back With Heavy Losses.

LONDON, March 14.—A furious but unsuccessful assault was made on the south front of the Turkish fortress of Adrianople yesterday, according to a news agency dispatch from Constantinople.

The besieging Bulgarians and Servians sustained heavy losses and were eventually repulsed all along the line.
